

SOUTH CAROLINA ETHICS CPE SPONSORS

What courses need approval?

Only South Carolina statute and regulation ethics courses, seminars, workshops, classes, etc., must be approved by the South Carolina Board of Accountancy.

On what material do the courses need to be based?

You can use any part of the Board's statute and regulations to build the course.

Title 40, Chapter 2, Accountants:

Are there any special requirements for self-study courses?

If you are developing a self-study course, it will need to meet NASBA's Quality Assurance Services (QAS) standards.

Are there any suggested topics?

- Failure to return records
- Failure to follow professional standards
- Substandard work
- Theft or fraud
- Failure to timely complete work and/or not responding to clients
- Criminal violations
- Unlicensed practice
- Living and working in South Carolina when you are licensed in another state, but not in South Carolina.

What needs to be submitted in order to have the specific SC Rules and Regulations course approved?

Please provide one copy of all course material to include any PowerPoint screen prints via either email or mail to:
