

SCAM ALERT

Scammers are targeting nurses by sending them official looking letters from nursing regulatory bodies (NRBs) or other state/federal agencies. These scammers know the business of the NRBs and are connecting with the nurses using messaging like “Your license is suspended or will be revoked unless you connect back with us and transfer funds to fulfill the financial obligation related to this inquiry...”

1. If you receive a phone call, never give out your personal information during the call. Hang up and then only call a number back that you have determined is legitimate through your research.
2. Never reply to a text message asking for you to call the number provided in the text to discuss your imminent “suspension or revocation of your license.”
3. Never reply to an email asking for personal information.
4. Never call a number provided to you in a suspect letter or email.
5. Use your own verified numbers for contacting the NRB.

Be vigilant! Do not discard or ignore such communication from scammers, but rather call and/or connect with the NRB to report the scam.
